The president says Plaatjies and Muthwa have been serving as the part-time commissioners of the Financial and Fiscal Commission since 2013 and 2014 respectively.

JOHANNESBURG - President Jacob Zuma has appointed Daniel Plaatjies as the chairperson of the Financial and Fiscal Commission and Sibongile Muthwa as his deputy.

The commission's primary objective is to make recommendations to Parliament, the provincial legislatures, local government and other organs of state on financial and fiscal matters.

The president says Plaatjies and Muthwa have been serving as the part-time commissioners of the Financial and Fiscal Commission since 2013 and 2014 respectively.

He says their institutional memory, expertise and their experience will add enormous value to the commission.

Presidential Spokesperson Bongani Ngqulunga says: "Both leaders have wide experiences both in the public and the private sector. They also both served as part-time commissioners of the Financial and Fiscal Commission. The president has wished them well in their new responsibilities."
